'ZAPPATORE'

EC, Vincent Hawkins, Sue Kennington

Private View: 22 August 2015 - at 19:30 or by appointment

Press Release

The first exhibition Zappatore - 'the Hoer' – brings together the work of three abstract painters: EC, Vincent Hawkins and Sue Kennington. Three artists who have a common engagement with colour, using the subconscious, structure and pure improvisation in their work. These painters are not afraid of vulnerability intervening in an essentially organic process – producing work that is in a constant condition of becoming and flux.

The paintings themselves are quite different from each other – the physicality of thickly built up, often discarded materials in EC's work, layers that arrive at something precious that appears to be both fragmented, yet wholly intelligible - contrast with the apparent lightness of Hawkin's poetic gouaches, folded, scrubbed away layers of colour, floating away from the surface of the traditional rectangle, and the implicit geometric structures, endangered by chromatic contrast and fluid line in Kennington's paintings.

As the Zappatore, the painter, equally vulnerable, would not consider 'the known' to in any way reduce man's relative ignorance – despite respect for knowledge and its advancement, s/he would never imagine it could reduce the extent of the unknown. These three painters are looking for something that lies way beyond the surface – the Zappatore is a modern survivor. Underground.

"Play is part of the process, it's where you discover through a kind of excavation," VH
